College of Education and Human Development
Graduate-Level Special Topics Policy

Policy Approval Date: October 2015 (CEHD Curriculum Council Graduate Subcommittee)

Effective date: January 2016

Policy Contact: Patrick Doble, Curriculum and Academic Program Specialist, CEHD

Graduate-level special topics courses should be taught no more than two times in three calendar years before being converted to regular courses. All prior approved topics will be honored for the three year approval.

The following types of topics courses will not be subject to the two-times rule:

- Seminars (unless a specific title is being requested)
- Practica
- Topics courses that support individualized instruction
  - Directed Study/Directed Research/Directed Readings
  - Thesis/dissertation credit
  - Study Abroad